

FAMOUS ENGLISH JOURNALIST ADDRESSED LARGE NUMBERS AT CANADIAN CLUB MEETING

Mr. J. Loe Strachey Spoke on "1848"—Downfall of Communism in France Discussed—Revival in Near Future Anticipated—Speaker Directly Opposed to Communism

"The year 1848 will soon be a subject of conversation for everybody in the world," said J. Loe Strachey in an address yesterday evening before the McGill Canadian Club in the ball-room of the Union. "It is still the blind spot of history, but a most interesting period, because it is the age in which two new movements came into existence." The movement referred to were democratic nationalism and communism.

Mr. Strachey, who is at present on a tour of Eastern Canada and the United States, is the editor of the London Spectator. His lecture last night, which was delivered before a crowd of some five hundred undergraduates and their friends, was entitled "1848."

Colonel Wilfrid Dwyer occupied the chair in the absence of A. L. Morris, president of the McGill Canadian Club. He briefly introduced the famous English editor, at the same time explaining to him some of the aims and the work carried on by the McGill Canadian Club.

Mr. Strachey explained his reason for choosing the somewhat unusual subject of "1848" by saying that he had been much interested in the subject of late, and wished to pass on his information to others. He went on to speak of Karl Marx, the communist leader of the day, who said, "A spectre is haunting Europe, the spectre of communism. Let the ruling classes tremble for fear of a socialistic revolution." The speaker related what Mr. Strachey said, "The spectre of communism is still with us."

The noted editor went on to speak of conditions in France at this period of the reign and overthrow of Louis Philippe, and of the rise to prominence of Lamartine. "The fears of the capitalist class would not allow Lamartine to venture too far," continued Mr. Strachey, "the management of public works proved unsuccessfull, and the extremists wished to establish the socialism, so the workers rose in June." One hundred and twenty thousand well armed and equipped labourers represented the "reds" while the government troops numbered not more than one hundred thousand men. The rising looked exceedingly formidable, but the military genius and statesmanship of Cavaignac saved the situation.

The battle between the two armies took place in the streets of Paris. Neither army showed any mercy to their opponents and the battle became one of the bloodiest ever recorded in history. Over fifteen thousand men being slain in the hand-to-hand fighting. The most astonishing feature of the battle was the three hundred barricades erected overnight by the communist forces. These barricades were carefully built and well placed, and showed evidence of a master mind in charge of the proceedings. "But to this day the name of this great leader has not been discovered," asserted Mr. Strachey. "It was an anonymous revolution."

The bravery and determination of the national guard who fought "Commune" he mentioned as "brave," however, finally turned the tide and this defeat of the communist forces sealed the doom of communism. The spectre, referred to by Karl Marx, seemed to have vanished, but whether it is really dead the next few years will show. Mr. Strachey's definition of a communist was much appreciated by the audience. He said that a communist was an idiot and a loafer who put down his own penny and took up the other man's shilling. In conclusion the speaker said, "I am a whole-hearted democrat, and I believe that the will of the majority, even if mistaken, should prevail."

Following the address Mr. Pidgeon, moderator on behalf of the Canadian Club and the audience briefly thanked Mr. Strachey for his lecture.

SCARLET KEY SOCIETY WILL ACT AS HOST

Some years ago our team consisting of four members brought back a collection of the first two sections of the Union House Committee. The meeting of the committee and election will be held in a future article. At present it is desired only that it be clearly understood that the representatives of the University themselves, and the members of the Society.

Let us now proceed with a discussion of the first two sections of the Constitution dealing respectively with the name and object.

Section one deals with the name, the Scarlet Key Society. This requires but little explanation. The Society is to act as an official host to visiting representatives of other Universities and Colleges. The word "Key" signifies the open door of hospitality, the objective "Scarlet" implying McGill.

Section two, divided into four sub-sections, lays down the purpose of the Society. Subsection one gives the first purpose, that of "welcoming all visitors to the University, seeing to their needs and comfort during their stay and supplying them with the means of entertainment when necessary." This subsection should be most thoroughly understood. It was drafted broadly that it might fit an routine, general, it has neither the meaning nor the effect of turning the Society into a group of "hall fellows, well-meaning." The first clause of the subsection dealing with the welcoming of visitors is a mere matter of courtesy carried out by the various Universities according to their individual systems. At McGill it has formerly been left in the hands of the manager of the team acting as host in the particular instance, a sloppy arrangement giving rise to much confusion, and very often, through stress of circumstances, foregone completely. While it is true that teams from the University in the inter-collegiate Union very seldom need any such aid, it must be remembered that while the team representing Queens, for instance, as an entity pays recurrent visits to Montreal, the University of Toronto, as an entity, does not.

FRESHMEN AGAIN USHER AT RUGBY

Last Year's Plan Will be Carried Out

An innovation in the matter of handling the crowds at the Provincial Molson Stadium was introduced by the Students Council last fall. Formerly students were paid each game to act as ushers and groundsmen, but the suggestion that freshmen would be glad of the opportunity to help the football team was taken up, with the result that last year's freshmen classes handled every rugby crowd without a hitch, under the supervision of older students. In this way a considerable item of expense was saved by the Athletic Board, who it will be remembered, still pay off a yearly portion of the outstanding debt on the stadium.

This year Frank Goffin, who is in charge of the Freshman-Sophomore activities will assign the different freshmen classes to handle different games. These men will report at the University St. entrance of the Stadium at 1 o'clock on the Saturday of their particular game, have their name checked off, and be assigned to positions.

Freshmen thus acting will receive credit for their work with the Sophomore Committee—who will also deal with any delinquents.

A Quackenbush has been appointed by Major Forbes to handle the arrangements at the Stadium and freshmen who are ordered to usher will report to him on their respective days and have their names checked off.

It becomes a matter of Faculty pride then to see which crowd is handled with the least trouble.

INAUGURATION OF THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES HELD

Dr. Pidgeon Gave the Opening Address

MODERATOR

Representative Body of Clergy Were in Attendance

Dr. Pidgeon, moderator of the United Church of Canada gave the address at the inauguration of the United Theological Colleges affiliated with McGill University which took place in Morris Hall of Presbyterian College last night. Principal Smith occupied the chair, supported by Principal Little and Welsh and a representative body from the ministers of the Presbyterian of Montreal was in attendance together with members of the Faculty.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Warriner and the reading taken by Rev. Dr. McIntosh. The Chairman in his opening address gave a statement of the effect of Union on the organization and policy of the Theological Colleges at McGill. The Colleges would remain in the same relative position to their respective churches but their professors to be appointed by the United Council. Although there were technical and legal hitches the colleges would be amalgamated without delay and have one united faculty teaching one calendar. Convocation was to be of a United form. There were now practical possibilities for the students and more especially the Graduate School.

For the present the Wesleyan College must act as the United College but there must soon either be a new college built or an additional building to contain such necessities as Convocation Hall and Library.

Dr. Pidgeon reported on the number of students registering and that in the first day there had been a total of 98 exclusive of Pmi Graduate and Extra Mural Students. The United Church had made it easier for students to attend universities nearer their home. Students had come from the Marne, the farm, from St. John's and Newfoundland but there was a need of more from the middle class.

Dr. Welsh was received with acclamation on making his first appearance in the position of Principal of the Presbyterian College. He outlined the plans for student life stating that there was to be a college chapel. The students in Theology were practically all Graduates of McGill and they were in evidence in the offices in the various ailes of life on the Campus.

The nonconcurring Presbyterians had suggested a 60:40 basis of sharing (Continued on Page 8)

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR FRESHMEN NOW COMPLETE

Meeting Yesterday to Arrange Details

TO BE ENFORCED

Upper Classmen Will Not be Indulgent

At a meeting held by Sophomore President last night in the Union the following Freshmen Initiation rules were drawn up. These are general rules applying to all freshmen.

1 All freshmen must walk on the roads of the campus and on no occasion must they use the sidewalk.

2 All freshmen must carry their books and any other items on demand except the Alma Mater and National Anthem.

3 All Freshmen must learn the Freshman yell which appears below. It would do well to post it in the song book for further use.

4 All Freshmen must touch the crown of their head with their thumb when encountering an upper classman.

5 Repeaters and new students entering any year but the first must remain neutral and are not subject to these regulations.

6 The students of Architecture 1 will be considered as Science Freshmen for purposes of initiation.

7 Dentistry Freshmen are subject to all the above regulations.

The following are special rules governing freshmen in the various faculties.

1 In view of the canary border on the hats of the Science Freshmen they will say "tweet tweet" upon meeting upperclassmen and they will endeavour to imitate as nearly as possible the tremulous trill of that song bird.

2 When entering University grounds Freshmen must direct themselves of their coat and place it on a hanger and carry it by that means to the Science Building.

Arts Freshmen will obey the following rules.

1 They must carry matches for the convenience of upper class men who may acquire them from time to time. The match must be of the "strike anywhere" variety and no more and no less than two may be proffered at one time.

2 They must ascend the stone steps outside the Arts Building sideways, one step at a time.

Commerce Freshmen will do well to observe the following rules.

1 They must wear vests reversed and shirt collar turned up (winged style) and without a tie.

2 The trousers must be pulled up and hose (sock) rolled down so that there is a distance of thirteen centimeters between the bottom of the trousers and the top of the hose (sock).

The above regulations are to be rigidly adhered to and any infractions will be severely dealt with. These rules go into effect as soon as the Freshmen receive their caps.

Freshmen moreover must serve duty as ushers at the Stadium for football games. Freshmen would do well to watch the Daily Notice Column for the publication of their names and the duty assigned them.

MANDOLIN CLUB PLANS TRIPS FOR THIS FALL

The McGill Band and Mandolin Club held its first meeting of the year in the Union Ball Room yesterday. Plans were discussed for the coming year, among which were proposed trips to Toronto and Kingston. It was proposed that the trip to Queens would take place during a week-end to be decided on later and that the trip to Vacuity be made some time during the Christmas holidays.

The executive is issuing a call for new players of any type of musical instrument and especially those men who can play more than one instrument.

An invitation has been extended to the club to play at the Mount Royal Hotel on the evening of Oct. 14, in connection with the Civil Engineers Convention to be held on that date.

A practice will be held in the near future and the date announced in the Daily.

A. S. NOAD TO BE AGAIN ON STAFF

Has Had Brilliant Career Here And Elsewhere

Word was received yesterday that one of the appointments which had been approved by the Finance Committee of the Board of Governors was that of A. S. Noad to the department of English. This is of peculiar interest to McGill students, as Mr. Noad has already had a long association with the university.

A. S. Noad came to McGill from the Montreal High School as their leading graduate. He was editor of the McGill Daily in 1919, and in the following year he carried off the Shakespeare gold medal for English.

After his graduation he was awarded a fellowship for study at Harvard and the Mowse travelling scholarship. It was as the recipient of the latter that Mr. Noad recently studied at the Sorbonne. Previous to this, he was on the staff of the Faculty of Arts as a lecturer in English.

Mr. Noad's return to the University will be welcomed by all who have been associated with him.

SWIMMERS BEGIN PRACTICES MONDAY

New Material Wanted For Polo Teams

The Swimming and Water Polo Club begins activities next week and the first practice will be held at the Rubenstein Bath on Monday Oct. 5 at five o'clock. During that week the club will hold its workouts at that bath and the days set for practices are Monday, Wednesday and Friday, all at the same hour. Beginning the week of Oct. 12 the team will hold all practices at the Knights of Columbus Bath on the days aforementioned and at five-thirty in the afternoon.

Coach Vermet is again in charge of all swimming activities and will take in hand any new men interested in swimming. There is plenty of opportunity for new material as graduation has left big gaps in the Senior Swimming team and has also practically wrecked the Water Polo team.

All those who can swim are urged to turn out and try for a place on either of the teams. Freshmen are particularly invited to report for practice. McGill has entered a team in both the Junior and Intermediate City Leagues and there are opportunities for good men on both these teams.

The Rubenstein Bath is situated on St. George St. which is just one block east of Beury and the Knights of Columbus Bath is in Columbus Hall, 255 Mountain St.

ERNIE ROBINSON IS IN NEW YORK

Was Boxing Instructor at McGill Since 1921

Ernie Robinson who has been boxing coach at McGill since 1921 has left the University to take up new athletic activities in New York. In his five years at McGill he became very popular and under his charge the McGill boxers made numerous successful invasions into intercollegiate circles and the United States. He has been the official boxing instructor of the Verdun Amateur Athletic Association since the spring.

Ernie Robinson is a versatile athlete. He is a famous footballer and is just completing his fifteenth playing season. As fullback he has played on the English International team. Ernie Robinson's forte however, was boxing. As a member of the old St. Patrick's Club he was welterweight champion here. Since that time his special field has been instructing. In Europe he was boxing instructor of the Canadian Expeditionary Force following which in 1921 he became instructor at McGill.

MATERIAL FOR TRACK TEAMS IS PROMISING

Both Frosh and Sophomores Show Strength

EIGHTY ENTRIES

Other Universities Prepare For Competition

Over eighty candidates for the track team participated in what was perhaps the most enthusiastic practice of the year yesterday afternoon in the Stadium grounds. Every regular or last year's team was present, and hard at work, while every event in the field and track programme attracted a number of less experienced athletes. Coach Van Wagner was well satisfied with his team when darkness called a halt, and stated that the efforts of many of the new comers were very gratifying.

In the Freshman-Sophomore meet which will take place next Saturday morning at ten o'clock, the competition promises to be very keen. Last night there were over eighty signatures in the lists hung in the field house, and many more are expected today. It was announced last night that post entries would very likely be accepted, but these would not appear on the programme.

In the Pole Vault yesterday afternoon, Adams was showing good form for this time of the season, while Doug Ross, out for the first time with the javelin was also getting good results. The low hurdles were attracting quite a number of men, with Blom, Patterson, Michael D. Smith, among the most prominent. In the shot-put, Cole was displaying skill, while he was jumping well in the high jump. In the sprint, Gave was getting away quickly, while Rogers was out in the half-mile.

Thompson, late of the R. M. C., had been out of town lately, but is expected to be out to practice today. Robin, mile champion for the last two years, was working at sprints, as well as greater distances. Gifford, title-holder in the three miles, was another runner making good time, while Amaran was boxing the discus. Considine was pole-vaulting, while Morrison was shilling at the jumps. Jack Jardine was attracting attention in the shot, while he was not neglecting the discus. In fact in every department Mr. Van Wagner and Captain Hurd had men hard at work.

Reports of the progress of the Queen's track team have not been received lately, but rumors from the Toronto camp have been drifting in. Judging by the results of the intercollegiate meet last fall, and the Ontario championship this summer (Continued on Page 2)

SCRIMMAGES ARE STRENUOUS AT SENIOR PRACTICE

Gridiron Gus says:

Heavy scrimmage practice was again the order of the day at the Stadium yesterday afternoon and again the scrubs were in for a rough time. Coach Shaughnessy kept the seniors going for nearly an hour in a practice game against the seconds and it was not mild to say the least. Manson, Walsh and Ned Gordon repeatedly tore through the second team for big gains. Gordon showed great form in carrying the ball and should be one of the most consistent ground gatherers this season. Manson, a particularly good on interference plays and went for some thirty yards this afternoon. As for "Doc" Walsh—well "Doc" just crashes through in something of the same manner as the time honored bull in the china shop.

Eddie Hanna, Joe Cameron and St. Germain are going strong and look to be the best backfield that has been seen for some time. Hanna has always been famous for his speed and St. Germain is behind him in end running and as for Cameron what he lacks in speed he makes up by his artful dodging. Altman, Murphy and Gortie form a strong substitute half line.

Two of the "Old Boys" turned out with the scrubs yesterday for a little wounding up. Dr. "Bones" Little and Dr. "Pin" Vanagan were the two gentlemen and their uncanny plays in the backfield had the seniors guessing. Unusually is the word. Some of their passes snatched highly of a basketball game. However weird were their

PEP RALLY WILL TAKE PLACE IN UNION TONIGHT

Freshmen Need Not Fear Hazing

FREE SMOKES

Prominent Men About College Will Address Gathering

The Pep Rally, the time honored celebration for the reception of newcomers to college takes place tonight at 8.15. The Pep Rally is for Freshmen and it is organized for the purpose of welcoming the new men and giving them an opportunity to make friends and get into the swing of college life. No Freshmen need fear that it is a ruse to trap him for initiation for such are absolutely forbidden by the Council and nothing of that sort will be attempted during the evening.

The evening will consist of a real pep rally speeches by prominent men about the college and an orchestra to supply music during intervals. British Consuls will be doled out free for everyone.

Prominent among the speakers of the evening is Sir Arthur Currie and this will be the first opportunity for the Freshmen to hear the Principal. Coach Shaughnessy who is turning out what promises to be a great football team this year, will give some first hand information on the coming games. Captain "Noodle" Philpotts will also have a few words to say. Basil MacLean, president of the Students' Council will also deliver a brief address.

First Gross and his orchestra have been engaged for the evening and their famous outfit are sure to supply plenty of pep for the proceedings. Jack Duckworth who is acting as cheer leader until the elections will lead a few yells which will serve as a blow-off valve for any man with too much surplus energy. There will be also a Canadian and a team in the person of Jimmy Rice, a well known local entertainer, and who is always good for a number of good laughs.

The Rally will be held in the Ball Room, which is on the top floor of the Union Front. Seats will be reserved for Freshmen while upper classmen will occupy the rear chairs. The cafeteria will be open all evening, which avails any men who so desire to renew the tissues at the close of the evening.

ODE TO A PUP

The pup, the pup, the beautiful pup, Drinking his milk from a china cup, Gambolling round so frisky and free, First knowing a bone, then hunting a flea, Jumping and running after the pony, Beautiful pup, you will soon be a honey.—Ex.

In ground games. On one occasion "Bones" threw a pass to "Pin" that was at least thirty yards. As it turned out, it was a forward pass and cost them the ball. These two backs are expected to do most of the duty for the "Old Boys" in the back field tomorrow.

Dr. Dad Arcue has not announced his line-up but affirms that there are some force players turning out with the "Old Boys." In tomorrow's game each team may use as many substitutes as desired so that the game should be colourful to say the least. The "Old Boys," at any rate will be versatile.

Coach Shaughnessy has established a training table at present, there are twenty-one men attending. The training table is instituted to promote an esprit de corps among the men and after the evening meal the coach gives a short talk to the men. The players eat and sleep together and thus rugby is discussed in all the off-hours. Beds have been arranged upstairs in the old house and there is also a lounge, a room fitted with tables where a man may study if he so desires. Living and eating together, the men get to know each other better and knowing each other better, they will play to better effect.

A large crowd of railbirds were yesterday to watch the pep rally. Come up someday yourself to see the team in action. It's a real thing.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1925

TAKING THE FIRST STEP.

For the last four months we students have spent our time in large measure as it has pleased us, although of course this very freedom has led us into many spheres of activity or inactivity. Some have been at home enjoying that fellowship of which they are deprived during the college term, and which is all the more dear for this reason; while many have travelled both in Canada and abroad, enriching their minds by new impressions, new contacts, new friends.

Now, with the falling of the leaves, all have found the way back to our Alma Mater, and the campus is thronging with men and women of all faculties. New faces are seen too, finding their way uncertainly from building to building, and hardly realising exactly where they are going. The endless hurry and bustle of the fall season is with us again, and the endless round of lectures and meetings and social affairs has commenced, due to continue with hardly an interruption until a month before the final examinations.

With all this activity, we often wonder whether there is the sincerity that would be expected of men and women whose privilege it is to have a share in the benefits of a college education. For we are thoroughly convinced that activity in and of itself is no definite proof of sincere motives; in some cases it is, in fact, but a cloak to hide the emptiness that would otherwise be evident. To make it of any use whatever, our activity must be but an expression of the highest motives in us.

If we would make the University in its broadest sense what we think it should be, namely, a temple to truth, we must begin by being true and honest in our lives, and then in all our associations. This may be, probably will be, difficult. But it is the first step; let all who would find the best and highest in the University take it early, and then follow where it may lead.

CONDENSED COMMENT

The first student event of the year was a decided success last evening, when Mr. Strachey addressed the Canadian Club. The ball-room of the Union was filled to overflowing, conservative estimates indicating that at least five hundred people were present. And the manner in which the speaker treated the little-known topic which he had chosen was highly enlightening. It is not often that undergraduates have the opportunity of hearing a man of such distinction as J. St. Loé Strachey.

With the issuing of the complete freshman regulations, it behoves all first year men to take notice. Such rules are not to be scoffed at, except at the peril of the individual who wishes to do so.

CAFETERIA TICKETS PROVING POPULAR

Union Management Announce Special Attractions For Session

Information was received yesterday that tickets for the cafeteria are selling very well this year, in comparison with the sale of tickets for the Christmas last year. Students have been strongly advised to purchase tickets because of the saving thus made—for every $5.00 ticket bought the student saves 50¢ because he gets meals to the value of $5.50.

The food, as usual, will be of the very best, at reasonable prices, due to the fact that it is supplied at cost. Occasional "treats" will be given, such as turkey dinners, but these will not be given as often as last year. Jazz Tunes will be continued and the "Grape Froeze" which proved so popular last year, will again be in evidence in addition to other afternoon, much sought after, delicacies. The appearance of the main dining-room has been very much improved. A new floor has been laid, the walls re-decorated and the tables re-varnished. The dining-room across the hall is also open. New men have not yet appreciated this fact.

A very efficient management is in charge, well-versed and capable, under the direction of Mr. Honegger. The cafeteria will cater again this season to the high standards of last year, kept up in accord with former years.

seems awfully popular with the students, who keep them all day long.

McGill will face a formidable team of sprinters, about the nucleus of which, who raced Hayward of Michigan to a tie for long ago, and May be in the quarter mile, Christie and Morrison seem to be running well, while in the mile Robin, the Red-and-White champion, will be opposed by Mitchell, who lately did the distance in four minutes and twenty-five seconds.

The chief Blue-and-White three-miler is Greene, a youngster capable of pushing 6000 lbs. In the field events, little news has drifted down to Montreal, but the Varsity men are sure to produce stout opposition to the Champions. Western University from London will likely send representatives, but any points won by their athletes will not count in the aggregate count.

In regard to the Freshman-Sophomore meet next Saturday, it was mentioned yesterday that any competitor who has not been medically examined, will not be allowed on the field. Men can still be examined today from twelve to one.

Couch Van Wagner said that all men who show promise, and who are not entering the Saturday meet, will be given time trials this afternoon or tomorrow. This will tell the team just what distance they have still to go.

INAUGURATION OF THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES

revenue and residence in the College but they had now failed to live up to their proposal.

In addressing the assembly Dr.
Edgerton recalled memories of his Alma Mater, he being a graduate of the Presbyterian College, McGill. He congratulated the three uniting colleges on their collaboration, stating that they were taking the lead which must be followed by the churches. His subject for address was "The Spiritual and the Practical in the Church's Life." Identifying week of deeper thought, He stated it more closely to the appeal of one that they must be a financial and spiritual revival for the missionary appeal rests on the sacrifices of life and treasure. Outlying the influences that predominated, the Church he mentioned the spiritualities of Epur-son and Moody their great revivals of the 50's had experience as their theme. These resulted in Social Mission which were thought to be the only service, but Social Service in the religion, there must be the Appel of God. The stream must not be mistaken for its source.

The Apocalyptic had founded their theme on Christ using the thought forms of his own time; that there was to be a great coming. The immediate effect being a return to the religious from the social. Now there was to be anticipated a return to the Saint in the modern day. A different type from the past but influenced by it, even St. Bernard had to leave the cloisters to meet the needs of the world. The question is "Have we lost our driving force by living in a practical way? The Church had created an attractive attitude in which it lived but spirituality must be the key note of the hour. There must be a larger place for private devotion in our services and the churches, too, must be built to inspire men's thoughts. There was a plea for a deeper and truer purpose of the buildings of the churches.
The closing thought was that the Church having worship that inspired sacrifice and Service, would become missionary because it was spiritual.

The assembly was entertained at the hospitality of the wife of the Presidents and Professors.

The tragedy of a college man's life is that every one suspects things of him which no one expects things of him.

Judge: You say the defendant turned and whistled to the dog. What followed?

Intelligent Witness: The dog.

"I see the university standards have been lowered!"

"Why that conclusion?"

OTHER CAMPUSES

Fourteen books, the gift of George Ade, the famous Indiana humorist, have been added to the University Library. W. A. Alexander announced yesterday. The books arrived Monday and are to be placed in the new addition to the Library.

Library officials wish to have two complete sets of the writings of all Indiana authors, one for circulation and the other autographed for the special collection room in the new addition to the Library.

For His Autograph.

All the author's books owned by the library were shipped to Hazelton Farm for Mr. Ade's autograph. In "Forty Modern Fables," he writes:
"My first attempt after I escaped from the newspaper office" in "Circus Day," he said, "Written long ago as a simple tale for small children put into this book without the knowledge or consent of John McCutcheon, who illustrated it, and the dismayed author."

Unfortunately the collection is not yet complete, although when the shipment was returned Mr. Ade included a number of complimentary copies of books the Library did not have. The following are included in the list: "College Widow," "Father and the Boys," "Just Out of College," which are plays, "Rings of Madness and Other Observations," "True Bills" and "Artie."

Mr. Ade expressed his willingness to co-operate in trying to obtain one of two copies of the books missing.

trout, the individual composing the team change from year to year, and as any McGill manager who has experienced such consideration in a strange town, will testify, the courtesy thus extended is more than appreciated. By this provision of the Society's constitution, team managers will be relieved of the responsibility, meeting trials becomes the recognized business of a certain group, in short, this is organization. The second clause, "seeing to their needs and comforts during their stay" was inserted to meet the special emergency of such occurrences as the annual Ski and Snow-shoe Meet where the members of visiting teams are billeted in the various fraternity houses surrounding the campus. The last clause of the sub-section describes a paragraph to itself considering that about the idea contained in it, there has raged much controversy, all or nearly all of which is based on misunderstanding.

The clause lays down that one of the purposes of the Society is to supply visitors with the means of entertainment when necessary. A current opinion of this phase of the Society's activity appears to be that this entails the taking of visitors to movies, buying them sundries or similar refreshments, a conception no doubt based on the tales the football team brought back from a trip across the border last year. While this form of attention is always graciously received, undoubtedly in a city full of interest, such as is Montreal, it is unnecessary. The provision under sub-section one has no such thought behind it. What is meant, and must will assuredly agree that such is desirable, is that visitors, strangers in the city, desirous of some special form of entertainment, should be put in the way of getting it, and that by a person who has made it his business to have such information at his fingertips. Let us take a few hypothetical examples. A member of a visiting American team wishes to take in a particular show, followed by a supper party. The Society supplies him, through the member on duty, with all necessary information, the name of the theatre, how and where to obtain tickets, the best place to dine afterwards and so on. Or again a visitor, on having some time to spare wishes to see some of the historical points of interest about the city. The Scarlet Key man takes him in charge. Many undergraduates will remember the uproar throughout the college several years ago caused by certain man who felt, and with a good deal of justification, that a visiting team had been treated badly as to entertainment while they were present in Montreal. The unfortunate occurrence was undoubtedly the result of an oversight on the part of an already overburdened management. With the system suggested such a contingency could not arise. It would be the duty of the Society to foresee when entertainment was necessary and how it should be given. Subsection two of section two provides well speaks for itself. It provides for "instituting and maintaining an information bureau for freshmen and where necessary, to act as guides, explain time-tables and furnish, in general, such aid as will more quickly assimilate first year men to the Collegiate routine." Anyone remembering the confusion incident in their first few days at College will surely favour a Society bent on obviating that chaotic state of mind and conduct.

Subsection three deals with such things as games, a matter which would come under the activity of the Society.
The final subsection gives the Society the purpose of "acting as hosts to the members of the Students' Executive Council shall see fit." An example of this activity would be the parties of the theatre during the performance of the Red and White Revue.
In school then, the Society is to be formed for the purpose of welcoming under one head various phases of student activity, which are at present left to haphazard arrangement. It is an attempt to make the performance of such services, courteous and aiding, a credit to the student body of this University and an honour to the men who perform them. A man elected to such a position will be, in the performance of his duties, in a large way responsible for the impression a visitor to McGill will take away of the University. Election to such a position should, therefore, be a proud and honourable thing, and a source of pride and joy.

Play For the Ward Trophy Will Start Soon

Matches for the Ward Trophy, emblematic of the interfaculty rugby championship, are scheduled to commence within a fortnight. These games will be played again this year on the campus on Mondays and on other Thursdays, Fridays, or Saturdays, which ever day does not clash with the English Rugby and Soccer Club programmes.

Science are the present holders of the coveted trophy, and the other faculty teams are out this year to snatch the cup from their grasp. Each faculty will be allotted practice hours on the small stadium field, and a schedule of these hours will be announced shortly.

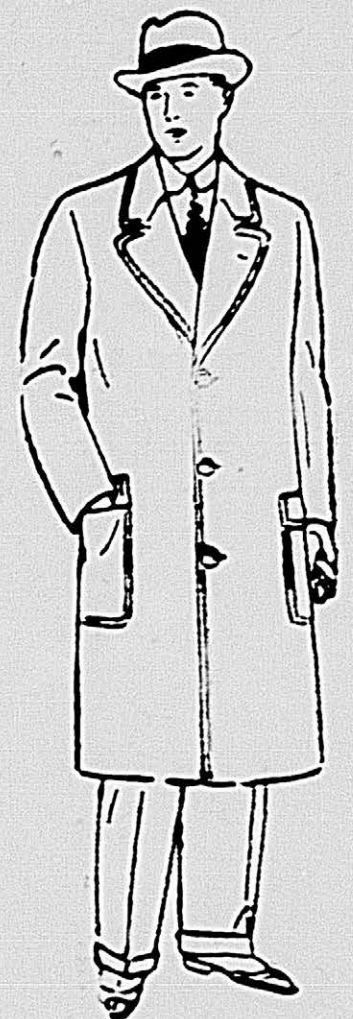

These matches have always proved most popular, and it is hoped that a great many men will take part so that good teams may be chosen, and the standard of play improved.

Hospitable Host: Won't you have some more duck, Miss Stunner?
Bashful Guest: No, thank you.
H. H.: Oh, do. Here's a nice little leg, just your size. —Ex.

Ha (2P. M.): Good night, Ann.
(Picks up a bottle.)
She (grabbing his hand): Don't open that, you'll wake my father. —Ex.
